Summary of reasons for decision:

The Blu-ray disc contains a feature that was originally examined as a 3D film by the Classification Office (OFLC Ref. 1201059.000, registered 24 January 2013). The film was classified R16, with the descriptive note 'Contains violence, offensive language and horror'.

This Blu-ray disc comprises the 'Theatrical' and 'Extended' versions of the film. The theatrical version is identical to the previously classified feature while the extended version increases the length of the film without increasing the level of violence, horror or offensive language. The tone and dominant effect are at a level consistent to that of the previously classified version. There is nothing in the extended version that requires an alteration to either the classification or descriptive note given to the film version
